INTERESTING CARMEL

Interesting things about Carmel and Carmel People.

SILVA'S PAINTINGS

We spent Saturday afternoon at Wm. P. Silva's private gallery and what a treat that was. Six years ago while visiting in Carmel we spent an afternoon with Mr. Silva and the memory of those beautiful pictures of his along with Mr. Silva's warm hospitality has always lingered.

Mr. Silva's work has the indefinable something that lingers.

Simplicity is the keynote in Mr. Silva's work—simplicity of composition—simplicity of coloring and a general simplicity of execution combined to form a perfect symphony.

You feel the warm languor of the South's marsh lands when you view his pictures—the early morning haze of the swamps is there.

Half close your eyes for a moment and the haze rolls away and you have the vague mystery of the swamp's undergrowth.

You can almost hear the haunting bay of the negro swampers dog. It isn't what you see in Silva's pictures—get close to them and study them in small sections and all you find is paint; it's what you feel when you study his entire composition that makes you know he is a master painter.

Unfortunately many of Mr. Silva's best pictures are impossible to reproduce—but we expect to picture some of his work along with other well known Carmel artists, some of whom we have already mentioned.

BETSY ANN FOOD SHOP

What delicious smells met us at the door of the Betsy Ann Food Shop when we called there Monday morning and found Mrs. Esther G. Brown and Mrs. B. L. Stone making Brown Betty.

And not only the sense of smell is delighted there but the sense of sight as well, for they have shelves of good things to eat, and all home made, which in turn delight the sense of taste.

Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Stone usually speak of their place as the Home Cooked Food store, but the real name is the Betsy Ann. And they serve lunches too, as well as putting up special orders.

These two ladies have made for themselves a place in Carmel and have regular customers who depend on them for their extra specials.

This is one of the shops that has helped make Carmel famous.

LITTLE HOUSE OF BEAUTIFUL THINGS

"The Little House of Beautiful Things" is just what its name signifies, but what we liked the very best of all were the Keith wood block prints. Miiss Rene Wilson the proprietor, saw the Keith prints in China and was so taken with them she secured them for her customers here. The coloring is absolutely perfect, and though a separate block must needs be made for each color, not one single dot has been slighted. The artist is an English woman who lived for years in the Orient and had the ability to catch the spirit of the country in her pictures. Among other beautiful things in the shop are some marvelous hand carved amber and jades. Miss Wilson farmely dealt in Chinese art only but is now broadening out her line.

RUSSIAN TEA ROOM

In Russia of old the peasants had an abundance of jams and honey but sugar was scarce and they developed the taste for sweetening their tea with their home products. Now we in Carmel are developing the taste since the advent of the Russian Tea Shop last May. Of course you don't have to put the jam in your tea, but Colonel and Mrs. Jadovskoy serve it and it does give a delicious bouquet. A bit of the old Russia is also seen in the private dining room on the second floor, which adds to the Carmel air of being "different." Since Colonel Jadovskoy was a former officer of the czar and came to this country for refuge, we feel the authenticity of the Russian tea room. The Jadovskoys plan to put their tables in the court again as soon as Spring shows a real determination to stay.

ETTA STACKPOLE'S JEWELRY

From the fifty-cent piece of costume jewelry to the emerald-cut diamond with its violet blue rays, Etta Stackpole's shop is complete and is one of the interesting spots of Carmel. Residents and visitors alike drop in to feast their eyes on the pretty things. One of the things which caught our eye was a plaque about five feet long, carved by the Chinese from wood. It would take a lot of dusting but think of the new things of interest a person would find everytime he studied it. Mrs. Stackpole has a lot of beautiful pottery and something pretty from almost every line of art.

DOLORES BAKERY WILL OBSERVE 1ST BIRTHDAY

"Well, how did your bread come out today? That's what the busy housewives used to inquire of each other. But now, they don't need to worry about "starter," the temperature, or anything else for the bakeries do all the work and the women have all the fun.

March 14th will witness the first birthday of the Dolores Bakery here under the management of George Wishart and already Mr. and Mrs. Wishart are planning something special for that day.

Mr. Wishart does his own baking and he bakes 24 kinds of bread. Think of it Twenty-four! Besides the rolls in all shapes and sizes! And besides the bread he makes doughnuts, pies, cakes, and every other good thing that can be found in a modern bakery.

But here's one of the secrets. We won't give them all away, but he has the right equipment: electric oven, doughnut fryer, bread slicer and what not.

Mr. Wishart pours his doughnut batter into a dobiddy, t hen swings it over the pot of electrically heated shortening and turns a crank and presto, chango, a doughnut before you know it!

Mr. Wis art has been making Hot Cross Buns this week. Next Saturday he will offer his very first special Boston Cream Pies.

All Set For Kite Flying Contest

Below is the program for the Kite Flying festival to be held in Carmel, Saturday, beginning at 1:30. Everybody will be there who can possibly attend. Cut this out and tuck it in your pocketbook. You may want it to refer to:

A special feature of the contest will be a kite fight among the Filipino entrants. The method of kite fighting among the Filipinos is a little different from that of the Anglo people inasmuch as the Filipinos try to wreck the opponent's kite by jockeying a kite beneath the other and then releasing it so that a sharp prong on the top of the kite will penetrate the other and thus bring it down.

Carmel Banks' Depositors Not Worried Over Three Day State Moratorium

"As far as the banks in Carmel are concerned," said Charles L. Berkey, of the Bank of Carmel, speaking with a reporter this morning, "there was no need of the legal holiday. The banks of the entire peninsula are particularly sound, perhaps in better condition than those in any other part of the state."

On account of the unsettled condition of the banks in other states, Governor Rolph and his advisors have seen fit to declare a three-day legal holiday this morning.

Banks throughout the state will be closed today, tomorrow and Saturday, until legislation can be enacted that will protect the country from disaster.

Depositors, instead of feeling alarmed, should be glad this move is being made for their protection. The old regime of allowing panic to tear down the institutions of the country has passed. With wise guidance the present crisis will smooth out as have many others and will soon be only a memory.

We, of the peninsula especially, need feel no alarm, the banks here being particularly sound.

Co-operation at this point is absolutely necessary. If each one does his or her part to prevent a feeling of unrest, it will not only help his neighbor but help himself.

Chain Stores Ruin the Farmer as Well as Merchant

"Collective buying" and the "great purchasing power" of the chain store, while a weapon primarily used against the independent merchant is an economic evil bankrupting not only the small merchant but the producer as well.

Information is at hand from a potato growing locality wherein potato growers were forced into selling their potato crop at a loss. The chain store buyers went to the potato growers, association and badgered them into selling one half their year's crop at 1 1-2 cents per pound. The chain stores immediately placed these potatoes on the market at 1 cent per pound or at an actual loss of one half cent per pound. Then, having fixed the retail price at one cent per pound in that locality they went back to the same producers and told them they could not get more than one cent per pound for potatoes and compelled them to sell the other half of their crop at the bankrupting price of one cent per pound. And the potato growers were ruined by methods that would make Al Capone blush. Simple enough though when backed by the big sticks of "collective buying" and "great purchasing power."

Some idea of these losses in other districts can be found in a recent article in the King City Rustler parts of which are reprinted as follows:

"The yearly output of beans through King City and San Ardo warehouses is 185,000 sacks. At 100 pounds to the sack that means 18,500,000 pounds. Now if we are allowing the chain store away over the nation, it means that in order to offer "bargain prices" on beans, they must of necessity, have had to cut the price on their purchases. Underselling as they did, it would have meant a cent a pound less to the farmers for King City beans. Figure up 18,500,000 pounds of beans at a cent a pound, and you must have $185,000. Quite a sizeable lump to drop, even in a prosperous community like King City.

We believe you will find on the county assessment rolls something like the following list of livestock in southern Monterey county: hogs 7,500; sheep, 27,000; range and beef cattle, 28,000.

The average kill of meat then, after dressing, would be: hogs, 937,500 pounds; sheep, 1,237,000 pounds; cattle, 18,200,000 pounds. Figure this at a cent a pound less, the margin upon which the chain store would probably work, and you have an additional $203,750. lost to the community.

We Ask You to Think

A letter appears this week on page three from a reader who wishes to explain her stand on "chain stores." The editor of Carmel Sun is sorry to have seemed to imply a condemnation of those who trade at chain stores. We are sorry that so many do not realize the vast evil of the chain store as it affects the country. If an individual is so strong that he need not consider the welfare of the country at large but only his own IMMEDIATE well being, it is all very well and good. But on the other hand, if what affects the country as a whole will affect him in the future, it seems to us a sad thing indeed that he does not take the time and trouble to figure out what is for his ultimate good.

We also have to live and we have to watch our expenses but over a period of years of comparing chain store and independent prices we have found that what we might have saved at a chain store would have been so little that it would not pay us to send money out of our own home town where it helps our neighbors and helps ourselves—to Eastern capitalists.

We called your attention last week to the bargains advertised by Leidig's and Minges' groceries. If there was credit and delivery attached to their prices, then you who traded at the chain store gave to that vast company that extra money which the Leidigs and Minges pay to local people to do their delivering, and it went into their coffers never again to see the light of Carmel. The independent stores met their prices and still paid for their delivery and still gave a helping hand to those who needed a boost in times like these.

We don't condemn. We ask you to think.

LA COLLECTA CLUB WITH MRS. HASKELL

Another enjoyable meeting of La Collecta club was held yesterday afternoon with Mrs. C. F. Haskell. The following program was presented:

These suppers are under the direction of the Health committee of the club and the amount taken in is used for the peninsula milk fund, being distributed among the three cities.

Council Reads New Ordinance

City council met in regular session last night and transacted the business of the city, all officers being present.

Two ordinances were presented for first reading, one providing for the regulation of the installation and repairing of appliances designed to employ natural, mixed or manufactured gas as a fuel, also for inspection of said appliances and issuance of permits and collection of fees, and the licensing of persons engaged in the business of installing and repairing gas appliances. The other is designed to protect the local business man in respect to auction sales. It asks a fee of $12.50 a day for the first three days and $25 a day thereafter for an owner conducting an auction sale of his own goods, by his own employes. Another clause to prevent auctioneers from bringing in their own stock to sell here would place the fee at $25 for the first three days and $50 each day thereafter.

A copy of a letter was read before the board which is to be sent to those in authority asking that Carmel be allowed, in connection with the post office department, to determine the architectural style of the new post office building, Carmel being a "distinctive and unique village."

A invitation was received from the American Legion by the council to attend the opening of their new hall in Monterey Saturday night.

City Attorney Campbell urged the council to write their senator and congressman urging the passage of the bill before the house setting aside a portion of the gas tax to be used by the cities in connection with the county on streets and highways.

PLANS GOING AHEAD FOR IRISH CABARET

Plans for the Irish cabaret to be given by the Woman's club at Sunset school March 17 are going ahead and new features have been added.

The colored people of Carmel have promised some clog dancing that will be worth seeing. There will be an orchestra for dancers, and stands with all kinds of good eats will be ranged around the walls. Shows, stunts, solo dancing and many other features will brighten the evening.

The program will begin at 8 o'clock, with an admission charge of only fifty cents.

No merchant has been asked to donate for this affair, the ladies of the club handling all expenses.

FEDERATED SOCIETIES TO MEET IN THE GROVE

There will be special music, speeches, and basket lunch at the all-day meeting of the Federated Missionary societies to be held at the new Baptist church in Pacific Grove tomorrow (Friday.)

Those who attend will have the pleasure of hearing Rev. T. H. Grimshaw at the organ, and Rev. Clay will lead the music. Many Carmel people are planning to be there and enjoy the entire day.

PINAFORE MAKES HIT

Into the harbor sailed the good ship Pinafore, and out she sailed again, leaving port about midnight Sunday, with her passengers of sisters, cousins, aunts, sailors, commanders, etc. She had been docked at Pier Community Play house since Wednesday and throngs had gathered each night and on Saturday afternoon to hear of the lass that loved a sailor.

The cast for this well beloved light opera included Chester Shephard, Samuel Ethridge, Carroll Sandholt, Gordon Knoles, James Darling, Everett Smith, Frances Harper, Theda Shoemaker, Nell Watson; the sailors, Allison Shoemaker, Howard Neubauer, Noble Barter, Rollo Harris, R. M. Hollingsworth, M. L. Sholtun; girls, Glenna Peck, Charlotte Lawrence, Holly Smith, Pauline Meeks, Vera Hunter, Tiny Pearson, Margaret McKechney, Grace Overly, Donna Davison, Edwina Pinkham, Lucille Sandholt and Marian Pinkham.

The stringed ensemble, headed by Arthur Gunderson, able director of the music of the entire opera included Mary Walker, Geraldine O'Connell,, John Terry and Frederick Preston Search.

Galt Bell has been receiving a great deal of praise for the splendid work he did in directing. Ruth Austin is credited with the dances in act one an dthe realistic settings were done by Richard and Rhoda Johnson.

Carmel is proud of her play house and of those who give of their talents and efforts in promoting the entertainment presented each month.

Each of those who took part in Pinafore is deserving of special mention but space forbids. They were all well chosen and well trained.

Just what play will be given the latter part of March has not yet been decided upon, but several are under consideration.

CROWD ASKED MORE AS CONCERT CLOSED

A man must be an artist to entertain a large audience for two hours and leave them clamoring for more. Such is Michel Penha,, 'cellist.

From his opening number "Toccata" by Frescobaldi, through the Intermezzo by Lalo, the crowd sat entranced, not a whisper nor a cough disturbing the listeners.

Penha was presented at the second concert of the winter series of Carmel Music society Saturday night at Sunday school and the large auditorium was filled with music lovers, for Penha makes his 'cello talk. It tells of joy, sadness and other deep emotions of life.

The last notes of the last number of the program died away and the artist bowed a good night but still the clapping continued until he obliged with another selection, and again the audience called for more and again he responded.

Howard Linsley, able accompanist, received many encores for his splendid work.

Mr. Penha and his Monterey Peninsula orchestra will be heard the 11th, and no doubt everyone who heard him Saturday night will be present again on that date to hear him and his players.

Mr. Penha has been engaged by the Carmel Music society for five months, two this spring and three later in the year.

Peninsula Orchestra Saturday, March 11

When the Monterey Peninsula Orchestra presents it program on Saturday the eleventh it will be in no sense of the word a program given by amateurs. In the sporting world the fine distinction between amateur and professional lies purely in the fact whether or not the participant has been paid. In the musical world native talent and length of study, only, count.

Of course there are several seasoned players in the orchestra personel, players who have often appeared in solo concerts and who are now generously and eagerly merging themselves in the ensemble with those less experienced and under Michel Penha's inspired direction the "professional" and the "amateur" blend into a moving and beautiful whole.

It will be of especial interest to those who were fortunate enough to hear Ralph Linsley accompany Michel Penha in his last concerto accompanied by the orchestra.

Abraham Weiss, whose playing of the Bach concerto with Herbert Sorenson was one of the high lights of the summer concert's will also play a concerto for the Viola and orchestra.

The personel of the orchestra is as follows:

First violins: concert master Mildred Sahlstrom Wright, Robert Nagler, Arthur Gunderson, John Terry, Laura Dierssen, Laura Sorenson.

Second violins: Grace Knowles, Marian Falkenberg, Charles Frank David Hagemeyer, Edna Lockwood, Ernest Calley, Frances Maas.

Violas: Geraldine O'Connell, Alice Meckenstock, Nancy Bragg, Abraham Weiss.

Cellos: Ducky Falkenberg, Doris Fee.

Double Bass: Fenton Foster.

Flute: Dr. F. Randol.

Clarinet: Arnold Chapman.

Trumpets: Paul Taylor, John Wither.

Piano: Ralph Linsley.

Harmonium: Edward Hopkins.

BUSINESS IMPROVING SAY THE MERCHANTS

It is pretty generally agreed here that business had been on the upward trend in Carmel the past few weeks, which fact doesn't make bad reading.

POET'S CORNER

By Jack Dalton

A new face in the Poet's Corner this week. Henry Moralas sends in the following from his book of cow boy songs. This poem is dedicated to all horse lovers.

POEM

It takes nail and boards to build a house,
But a 12 gauge gun will kill a grouse.

PHILOSOPHER'S CORNER

Ah Nertz — Chinese Tea Merchant and Philosopher says: "Honorable Dog possessing sharp teeth never wastes time with loud bark.

THE LION ROARED

By Jack E. Dalton

The boy stood on the burning deck
His feet were hot, so was his neck
The engine in his boat was dead.
For old man ccarbon filled it's head
But the rescue boat drew swiftly near
It's motor's hum was sweet to hear
For when they gave their craft the gun
'Twas Gilmore made their engine run.

Poppy time is here again. Mrs. Duranti of the Lucca on Dolores enjoyed a huge vase of the beautiful blossoms the first of the week, the golden petals harmonizing with her color scheme of decoration.

SPORTS NEWS of the WEEK

By JACK E. DALTON

Three Abalone League Games Last Sunday

Three games were played in the Abalone League Sunday. Staniford and Meeks both came to bat four times, made three hits and both scored three runs—not bad. Staniford is playing great ball. Fred Godwin played a great game at short stop. The editor was told last week that a sports page would not go over in Carmel. Maybe it won't, but there are more sports to the square inch in Carmel than there is in Frisco to the mile. Everybody that comes here or lives here is interested in some sport.

Just go to the ball games and look at the crowd. Carmel is the only town of its size in the U. S. that has a league of its own.

Look at polo, base ball, tennis, golf and a dozen other sports not leaving out trail riding. Every time the editor goes to the fights in Frisco, he meets plenty of Carmel sports.

Go to the Grammar school any night and see the men and boys playing basket ball.

Carmel is the outstanding city of its size inthe world for all good clean sports.

Boxing Bouts At Manzanita Are Fast

The Manzanita club gave a supper and smoker last Saturday night. Boxing was the big sport of the evening. Bob Smith Carmel pug and T. B. Nichools went three fast rounds to a draw. It was a good scrap and the boys got a big hand. Next Bob Leidig and Ben Wetzel went three rounds. Doc. Staniford was third man in the ring; he called it a draw. The windup between Mike Murphy and Fred Leidig was the hardest fight of the evening. No decision was given as the referee, Ray Meeks, was knocked out in the middle of the third round.

Round One

Meeks called the fighters to the center of the ring. Rabbit punches and clubs were barred. They squared off. Fred looked at Murphys ear then slugged him on the chin. Murphy was dazed but soaked the first man he saw who happened to be the referee. The fight had to be stopped till Ray came out of a trance. The rest of the round was even with the crowd cheering them on. It was a great fight. The fighters were hitting each other with every thing but the time keeper's watch.

Round Two

Fred swung a hay maker at Murphy but hit the referee on the ear. Meeks was out on his feet but hit back and he didn't have on boxing gloves. His hard fist sank into Murphy's tummy. It was a stiff blow and made Mike grunt. By this time the crowd was on its feet madly urging the fighters on. Fred slugged again hitting Meeks on the nose. The round ended in an uproar. One fan was heard to say—"To think I paid $5.50 to see Corbett and Fields."

Round Three

The fighters came out of their corners looking for a knockout. They were fighting their best as it was the last round and neither wanted to win. By this time the crowd had gone wild.

The fight ended suddenly in the middle of the round when Fred stepped on the referee's toes and Murphy bounced an uppercut off his chin. The crowd all agreed that the fighters had won and the refereehad lost.

Doc. Staniford challenged Ben Wetzel from ring side to a three round fight at the next smoker.

A good time was had by all.

BOXING

Does it pay to advertise on the Sport Page. The Salinas Fight Club says it does. They ran an ad in the Sun last week and you should have seen the Carmel faces in the crowd. Five cars went over in one bunch. The fights were run off without a hitch and were as good a bunch of scraps as the Sports Editor has seen in many a long day. There wasn't an empty seat in the hall and the standing room was pretty well taken up. Jimmy Irvin was referee, and he made a good one. Cool headed and knows the game from A to Z. Don't fail to take in the next fights on March the the tenth.

BASE BALL

Carmel Grammar School went out for practice last Friday with a lot of promising talent on hand. John Sheridan will be the star hurler again this season. His work last year was hard to beat Sheridan and Dalton were last season's battery but Dalton has gone to Monterey High this year so John will need a new catcher. The editor thinks Sheridan one of the best grammar school pitchers he has ever seen and should make a big name for himself in college. Carmel Sun will publish all the school sports.

RIDING ON INCREASE

Both stables report a big increase in horseback riding. Not long ago a man came to the fair city of Carmel for his health and went to one of the best doctors for treatment. After being looked over the doctor asked him if he rode horse back. "No", he replied, "I never have". "Well", the doctor said, "Go up to one of the stables and rent a horse by the month, then ride three hours a day and you will be O.K.". The man is riding about five hours a day now and he never felt better in his life.

The VOICE of the People

A CHAIN STORE DEFENDER

Carmel, Feb. 28, 1933
The Carmel Sun, Carmel, Calif.
Dear Sirs:

Severe criticisims of chain stores which have appeared in your columns have either implied or expressed a condemnation of those who patronize them. I therefore feel moved to speak for a considerable number of people like myself, fairly intelligent buyers, who are trying to make every penny do its utmost in helping us live and give, and who find the chain stores one means to that end.

In extenuation of his somewhat higher prices, the "regular" grocer pleads that his delivery service costs him a good deal, and the credit he is obliged to extend to many customers is a very real expense to him, especially when bills go unpaid over a period of months or entirely. Very well then. Credit and delivery are an extra cost, over and above that of the actual commodities sold. The absence of credit and delivery in the chain store scheme of things is one of the potent reasons why their prices are lower. (We need not here consider lower quality because many of us buyers are still discriminating though impoverished, and refuse to buy goods of a cheap quality because the price is low.) We are cutting out luxuries, and credit and delivery are on the list of things we are going without.

We go to a "regular" grocery. We pay cash. We carry our groceries home. Do we get better prices on that account? We do not. Therefore we are paying for luxuries used by other people. So we go to a chain store where those two luxuries do not enter into the price.

Let any local grocer face the situation realistically. Let him either cut out credit and delivery entirely, or make a suitable charge for each credit account and for each delivery. Then, if he reduces his prices accordingly, and carries goods of the quality we like, he will get much of the trade now going to the chain stores.

The old plea that the local grocer has to be obliging is out of date. It is time for grocers and customers alike to wake up to the fact that it costs money to be obliging, and that cost should not fall upon those who do not ask the favor.

COUNTY ROAD ENGINEERS

(The following is taken from the San Francisco News, February 24, 1933).

Under present California Law, county supervisors in uncharted counties are not much more than glorified road construction bosses.

Their chief business is to superintend road work in their individual districts. All together they spend about $30,000,000 annualy on this work, half of which they raise by local taxation.

Each Supervisor has his own road foreman and set of machinery. If there are five districts in the county, there are five foreman and five sets of equipment.

The practice has been the source of scandalous waste of public funds for years.

A bill now before the Legislature drawn by the State Chamber of Commerce, is intended to stop it.

The measure provides that each County shall have a road engineer who shall take over the job of bossing all the road work in the county.

Two small counties may employ the same engineer, if desirable.

The chartered counties and four other counties of California have adopted the road engineer plan with great success. They have found that it systemizes the highway system and makes it of greater usefulness to the citizens. Also they have proved that it is economical.

BIRTHDAY SURPRISES FOR MOTHER: DAUGHTER

Last Friday was Mrs. Cora Newton's birthday, and her daughter Mrs. D. E. Nixon gave her a most enjoyable party at her home at Dolores and Ninth. Then when Tuesday ushered in Mrs. Nixon's birthday, her mother gave her a delightful surprise, inviting in a number of friends for the afternoon. On both occasions games and music were enjoyed. The following were guests Friday afternoon: Mesdames Beller, Haskell, O. A. Holm, Chappell, Gillette; Russell Hudson of Monterey; Inez Warren, Morehouse, M. J. Rohr, Main, Fletcher and Grant Wiills and Miss Mary Barnes.

Tuesday afternoon, in addition to the games, Mrs. Beller and Mrs. Nixon rendered a duet, and Miss Emily Walter gave a solo. Guests Tuesday afternoon were: Mesdames Beller, Haskell, Holm, Chappell, Gillette, Hudson, Bain Rohr, Mabel Turner, Hart, Morehouse, C. B. Tarr and Warren and Misses Elizabeth Morgan and Emily Walter.

And now enters the granddaughter, Mrs. Nixon's daughter, Mrs. Earl Moore, who with her husband and two sons will come from her home in San Leandro to to spend the week-end here, celebrating her birthday which was the same as that of her mother.

Carmel Sun joins their many friends in wishing them all many happy returns.

BOBBIE HEINZ NOW AT MARKET DEL MAR

The customers in Market Del Mar this week have received treats, Bobbie Heinz, demonstrator for the 57 varieties, being there with her chafing dish from which she serves small portions of the Heinz goodies.

Heinzes have made four kinds of soups for the past several years but more recently they have added eight other brands, and a canned macaroni, too, with white sauce. And it is good!

"Bobbie" is also introducing the Heinz jellies and several other products. She will be at Market Del Mar until Saturday.

MANZANITA CLUB WILL EAT SOUTHERN MEAL

A genuine meal from the old south will be enjoyed at the Manzanita club next Wednesday night by the members. Dr. Gray and Mr. Immelman will have the dinner in charge. The members will be looking forward to fried chicken, candied sweet potatoes, hot biscuits, etc., but perhaps they will get only cahn pone and molasses. They will all be there, anyway.

SUNSET SCHOOL HAS FOUR TEAM LEAGUE

Sunset has a school league of four teams, Yankees, Pirates, Cubs and Tigers. So far the first three named have each won one game. Their captains hope to secure from these four teams material that will be strong contenders for the Peninsula championship. The first practice was held recently and showed great possibilities, according to Professor Bardarson, coach and principal.

Glen Leidig, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Leidig, has returned home from Corvallis, Ore., where he was a college student until Christmas time. He will probably remain in Carmel. Glen was accompanied home by a friend, Paul Yonts, who will visit here awhile and probably go to San Francisco later.

UNEMPLOYED URGED TO JOIN UNIT NO. 2

A call is issued to the unemployed of Carmel to join in Unemployment Unit No. 2, located between Pacific Grove and New Monterey. Manager Dan Coon had thought to establish a branch here but decided the time was not ripe and those who wish to join with Unit No. 2 will be taken over to work each morning.

Anyone wishing to join will please call 6767 at New Monterey or get in touch with Mr. Coon, who lives in Carmel.

One of the latest moves by the unit is the repairing of houses in exchange for rents. Landlords who have places in need of repair and have no ready money to put into the work may exchange rent for labor and material.

STAG PARTY GIVEN FOR FELLOW WORKERS

Because he has been transferred to the Eureka office of the Pacific Telegraph and Telephone company from the Carmel Branch, Morris E. Ramsey's friends gave him a stag party one evening last week at the home of Ray Schreiman at Lincoln and Tenth.

The young men enjoyed the evening and wished Mr. Ramsey success and contentment in his new home. Among those present were: Messrs. Virgil Meloy, Edw. Schafer, E. C. Kaiser, Roy Kaiser, Russell Craven, Ernest Hill. Hap Bridges, Frank Rodman, Horace Wardle, Harry Hill, Clifford Zahner, Gus Ellingood, Bill Williams, Larry Yount and W. S. Terry.

MASSACHUSETT VISITOR ON FIRST TRIP HERE

That the world is a small place after all was again demonstrated Saturday afternoon in Carmel. Miss Mary Grinnell of Waquoit, Mass., was taken by her hostess, Mrs. C. T. Grinnell of El Camino Real to see William P. Silva's paintings. Though Wapuoit is a very small out-of-the-way place, Miss Grinnell found that the town was familiar to Mr. Silva and that they had mutual friends. Miss Grinnell is on her first visit to California and came by way of the Panama canal. She was taken on a trip to see the big trees Sunday. She is delighted with California as a whole and Carmel in particular.

NO CARMELITE TO ATTEND INAUGURATION

Since no one from this city is attending the inauguration of President Roosevelt in Washington Saturday, the honor of representing Carmel will go to Congressman J. J. McGrath.

A clinic will be held at Sunset school March 14 under direction of the Carmel branch of the P. T. A.

Mrs. Etta Stackpole has purchased from C. R. Parrott, a residence on Ocean and Camino Real. She has not decided whether she will livein the house or rent it. She plans some extensive remodeling and redecorations.

Ted Leidig, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Leidig, and Johnnie Campbell who attend Menlo Junior college spent the week-end at their homes in Carmel. Ted has been a student there for one week only, having transferred from U.C.L.A. He is delighted with the new school.

NEW PIPE ORGAN FOR EPISCOPALIAN CHURCH

The new pipe organ to be installed in the Episcopalian church arrived this week. It is hoped that installation will be complete by Easter so that dedication services may be held at that time.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd D. Whiffin, former Carmel residents and business people, will return this week from Oakland to remain here permanently.

GRETA GARBO, JOHN BARRYMORE, JOAN CRAWFORD, WALLACE BEERY and LIONEL BARRYMORE in "GRAND HOTEL"

Five stars instead of one shine in "Grand Hotel," spectacular picturization of the celebrated Vicki Baum novel and play, which will head the program at the Carmel theatre Sunday and Monday, Mar. 5 and 6.

Probably no film in recent years has attracted as much advance attention as this unusual screen drama which is described as a symbolical study of human nature in startling realism. The play ran in New York for more than a year with similar success accorded its presentation in other American cities as well as in capitals of Europe.

In bringing it to the screen Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer placed five of its major stars in the central characterizations and engaged Edmund Goulding to direct and handle the ambitious assignment. The remarkable cast is headed by Greta Garbo with John Barrymore, Joan Crawford, Wallace Berry and Lionel Barrymore playing the outstanding roles. Lewis Stone and Jean Hersholt are featured in the large supporting cast.
